Kind and Confident

I believe in myself and I can achieve anything I set my mind too

Dear Families,

In assembly this morning we talked again about changing the value of caring. We felt that Caring had become a bit obsolete because of Kind. So today we talked through values starting with the k / c sound. The words we discussed are courageous, confident, competent, and curious. Once we knew what all the words met and the children understood we voted on each word. The children stood up for the word they wanted. The most voted for word was confident. Arthur explained to us all about being confident and brave.

The weather is set to be better this week we hope. It was lovely to see you all in the sunshine this morning.

We have the Parents Maths Event on Wednesday at 9am starting in the hall.

We also have World Book Day on Thursday. Your child is invited to come in a costume of a book character.

Have a great week.
